A LETTER FROM BREN

2022: Celebrating 80 Years

KOINONIA CELEBRATES 80 YEARS!

In 2022, Koinonia celebrates 80 years! Since 1942, this community has been doing its best to serve.

This is as true today as it was in October 1957, when a Koinonia newsletter read — "We wish it were possible to tell each of you how much your friendship means to us during these troubled times. We thank God always for your sustaining love. Warm greetings to you from all of us at Koinonia."

We remain sincerely grateful for all our customers and donors. Because of your patronage and support, we carry on the work.

As it was in 1957, it is today — our mail-order business is our main source of income. So, please shop with us year-round. Make sure to peruse the catalog from cover to cover. On page 15, you'll find the new book featuring Clarence Jordan's writings, The Inconvenient Gospel: A Southern Prophet Tackles War, Wealth, Race, and Religion. Koinonia is honored to partner with Plough Publishing to bring this book to you on the special occasion of our 80th anniversary.

Page 4 highlights a new gift box which features Inconvenient Gospel and, of course, all your old favorites can be found throughout. If you are in Southwest Georgia or can make a trip to Southwest Georgia, you are warmly invited to join us for the 80th Anniversary Celebration. We're hosting an Open House on Saturday, November 26 for old friends and new friends alike from far and near. Read about this special event on our website.

Thank you for thinking of our 80th year as you make 2022 and 2023 donations. You can include a donation when you place an order. Your "extra change" will make a big difference to all those in need we help.

I close with words from another Koinonia newsletter "So many others enriched our lives by stopping to visit this year. One of the joys of our existence is to know the many of you who have joined us in this witness. The door is open to any of you who can find a way to Koinonia."

—September 1960

Come see us!

Onward for 80 more years and beyond.

Support Koinonia Today!

"The community seems rather amused at two preachers trying to farm, and haven't yet quite figured us out. We willingly and unashamedly confess our ignorance, and ask for their instruction and advice. In return, we may in time share with them our convictions about the brotherhood of all men, about the way of love as an alternative to hatred and violence, about men being more valuable than mammon, about Christian communal living, and about many other things which loom so large in the teachings of Jesus."

—Koinonia Newsletter, December 1942

From the first days of Koinonia in 1942 until today, 80 years later, we have been committed to showing people a different way of life. With your support, we are able to continue this mission with love through service to others, joy through generous hospitality, and peace through reconciliation.

"In Jordan, I stumbled upon a guide who knew exactly where I expected my faith to take me, who shared my convictions, and whose faith had led him to defy the status quo. A Greek-reading green thumb, Clarence Jordan stuck out to me. I couldn't unsee the cotton patch evidence.

There is a generation that wants to see something different. And we are willing to go to the ends of the earth, and back in time, to find those who know the way—a way out of racialized identities and hierarchical forms of belonging in a capitalist society. For me and for many others, Clarence Jordan is one of those. A patron saint of community-builders, he still speaks to those who feel called to defy race and its categorized way of living. He inspires us to lay to rest this segregated expression of church and demonstrate a better way."

KOINONIA IS THE GREEK WORD FOR COMMUNITY OR COMMUNION. When Clarence and Florence Jordan and Martin and Mabel England founded Koinonia Farm in 1942, they envisioned it as a “demonstration plot for the Kingdom of God.” This meant living out the difficult parts of their faith: radical sharing, pacifism, and reconciliation across racial, religious, economic, social, any and all divides. They modeled their community after the early church in the Acts of the Apostles.

During the 1940s, eyebrows were raised at the pacifist beliefs of the community. During the 1950s and 1960s, the dedication to treating all people as equals no matter their race caught the attention of those who disagreed and brought persecution in the form of violence and boycotts. The mail order business came out of this time and to this day remains our main source of income.

In the late 1960s, Koinonia Partnership Housing was born. Over the next decade, the community built 192 houses in Sumter County and sold them without interest or profit. From this local ministry, Koinonia members Linda and Millard Fuller took the idea of partnership housing, founded Habitat for Humanity, and the ministry spread around the world. They also started the Fuller Center for Housing here in 2005.

These days, our love through service to others takes on many forms. We work to further the ideas upon which we were founded in all areas of service, from visiting men at Stewart Detention Center to working for peace near and far. As a house of hospitality, we welcome guests and interns from all over the world. Every purchase you make allows us to continue this work together.
